The metaverse is dimensionless (or, all the dimensions)

On standards ... OMI is not an advocate for "a certain type of standard". We build things that we feel is lacking, or needed, and we hope people will use it. But more importantly we want to grow the bigger ecosystem. We want to trumpet all the good standards and teaching people why some standards are appropriate for some things and others for others.

maximus: like a franchise model, with the guiding hand of OMI.

"Brand approach for OMI": Playfulness - less fear of failure, less concern of needing to commit to big things.

Counter is perhaps the fear of not being taken seriously - but there are complementary projects

MSF - some members have lost access - aliases of emails no longer working.

Need to check access - how members would want it, and check if the aliases are working.

Broader need: Relook engagement and cross-feedback

Social media is less about "feeding the beast" and more about a portfolio - these are things that are important to us.

Daily, even weekly engagement is too much.

Keep the themes, but take away from the daily or weekly frequency. Just use tags, like #meta4metaverse

3D tiles are the alternative - hosted by OGC - <https://www.ogc.org/>, or related, to geoTF (?) external reference (Khronos) talk about marketing, learning from VRM, moved to how AI can help marketing.

e.g. a prompt for people to learn how to implement specs, what they are, how they work.

thoughts:

make llm friendly version of docs for ez implementation
