Nova (through Stardust) is working on replacing gnome/kde/etc. with a new display server and desktop environment.

Stardust is an XR display server for local diegetic 3D apps represented as objects (ref:

from maximus:
oh i like here's a suggestion:

Human connectivity
Through data interoperability
With accessible immersive technology

#1 is main goal, 2 supports connecting, and 3 helps sustain connectivity 🫂

indiebio yesterday (Maintainer) (Author)

so this is allowing us to work on our own projects, with this overarching purpose to help human connectivity.

on joining, OMI can be seen as a source of information, a place to see what different things are happening. Sharing example of the sky boxes.
a group of people working "co-working space" more informal than e.g. MSF or Immersive Wire groups (more industry focused) We're probably more international than many groups.
More OPEN - focused on the openness

TODO: make a starter pack for bluesky for "our" metaverse interests. - and start one on e.g. github
