IPSME and OMI mentioned in academic article:

"the IPSME architecture by Kim Nevelsteen (OMI member) and Martin Wehlou (https://doi.org/10.1145/3458307.3460966) stands out for its integration of disparate systems. It uses a publish-subscribe mechanism and dynamic translators to enable interoperability without requiring uniform protocols, thereby supporting system evolution and simplifying integration." (Yang et al 2024 - https://arxiv.org/html/2403.05205v1)

OMI is still healthy and strong!
Facebook changed their name to Meta in October 2021. Something else of significance is Meta's 180 on their stance of open vs. closed. They were essentially pushing for a super closed metaverse and tried to own the name, while their AI and generative works are taking more of an OMI ethos
