humbletim: there was a bit of interoperable world URIs discussion way way way back when that might relate #23

Decision needed: Are we happy for OMI to host this? - indiebio says clear yes, no objections from others. humbletim and aaron are supportive. iFire is helping build it.
Next actions:
Need to explain why the server website exists, shown on the website to show people why this exists, how it relates to OMI - especially if there are people who say "oh but this is not what OMI is about" to show how it is community driven - we as OMI are supporting the community, we're neutral on the projects per se.

have a unique site name (propose OMIL - OMI Lobby), and then redirect to lobby.omigroup.org.
Next actions: find our money, lol, and buy the domain and server space

I opened up a thread on the OMI discord to finalize on the name and the description to explain why OMI is doing it specifically. iFire will pull the proof of concept website into its own repo and transfer it to OMI, so its easier to discuss and do PRs on. Wait with the domain for a few days so people can collect their thoughts on the topic.
Once we got ssh access the site should be up shortly after.
